One day, the rainbow lost
it's colors, it became grey.
Everyone is worried.

Elmer the elephant decide to give his colors to the rainbow even if he will lost his colors.
He's willing to consacre himself for everyone else.

Fortunately, the rainbow got Elmer's colors and Elmer didn't lost his color.

This is a win-win happy ending.

The shering is important.
Elmer always shows ~~us~~ us what empathy is and how important the kindness.

My drawing is based on story of "The secret garden". In the book...
Mary starts as a lonely and sad girl.
But when she discovers the secret garden, she learns to take care of it.
As the garden grows, Mary becomes kinder and happier. Mary helps her cousin Colin, who is also sad and sick, to believe in himself. Together they help each other to feel better. The story shows us that when we care for people, plants, and animals, we can bring happiness and love into the world. It's a book that teaches us how kindness makes everything grow just like the garden!

My drawing is based on the story of the Lion and the Mouse. The big lion shows kindness towards the little mouse and let it go. My favorite moment is when the mouse comes to help the lion which is trapped in the hunter's net. This story teaches us to be kind towards all, even smaller and weaker ones because one day we may need their help.

In my picture,
you can see
a bullied girl.
Everyone was laughing at her
and this made her
sad. But a child offered a helping hand to this girl
and they became friends.

If you are bullied,
it's better not to be alone.

In my drawing, you can see a little boy sheltering a dog from the rain, and a little girl sheltering the boy. Kindness is a cycle; it always appears when you need it most.

Bear is the name of a guide dog for the blind and the title of the book. One day the dog becomes blind, he gets lost and falls into a hole in the forest where he meets a real bear. They become friends. Bear the dog can't see and because of his name, he believes the real bear is a dog like him. They help each other in the story, their goal is to find Patrick, Bear's master. I like this story because it shows a real friendship and that differences do not matter.

My drawing is about someone who plays football with his friends, says to someone, who cries because he's always alone during the break, that he can play with them. The boy who cried played with the others boys and the boy who cried scored a goal, then, the boy on the left encouraged the boy who cried and so, who feels better than before. My message: We must always help others because "others" can be you.

My drawing shows that there is always someone viewed as an angel who is here to help us when needed.

This person can sacrifice many of her feathers to help someone else to stand up.

The feathers represent innocence, compassion, friendliness, kindness and generosity.

"It doesn't cost us anything to be kind."
